Sec. 12-34.5.

Inducement to commit suicide.

A person commits inducement to commit suicide when the person either of the following:

Knowingly coerces another to commit suicide and, the other person commits or attempts to commit suicide as a direct result of the coercion, and he or she exercises substantial control over the other person through, control of the other person's physical location or circumstances; use of psychological pressure; or use of actual or ostensible religious, political, social, philosophical, or other principles.

With knowledge that another person intends to commit or attempt to commit suicide, intentionally offers and provides the physical means by which another person commits or attempts to commit suicide, or participates in a physical act by which another person commits or attempts to commit suicide.

For the purposes of this Section, "attempts to commit suicide" means any act done with the intent to commit suicide and which constitutes a substantial step toward commission of suicide.
